Point Lobos Distributes Laidlaw William's List Of River Mouth Birds

"Carmel River Beach State Park is more than a recreational area," Laidlaw Williams, Carmel Highlands Naturalist, has written in his introduction to the List of the Marsh, Water, and Shore Birds Occurring at Carmel River Beach State Park Which Are Not Commonly Found at Point Lobos Reserve.

The list, mimeographed by the state park service, is on sale for 10 cents at Point Lobos Reserve.

Carmel River Beach State Park includes a small but interesting lagoon and marsh. The protection of wetlands is exceedingly valuable to the naturalist because certain species of plants and birds are adapted to living only in such habitats as are found in these semi-aquatic places. Everywhere throughout the country the number of marshes is being diminished due to the destructive forces of commercial development. We can, therefore, be glad indeed that the Division of Beaches and Parks is preserving the natural conditions at the Carmel River Mouth and the adjacent marshes," the introduction continues.

There is no mention of the part Laidlaw Williams played in influencing the Division of Beaches and Parks to adopt its policy of "preserving the natural conditions" at the Carmel River Beach State Park. He, Horace Lyon, Francis Whitaker, C. E. Graves, Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, and other members of the Lobos League sponsored the drive that raised money to match with the state funds, so the area could be purchased for a state park and be preserved as a natural area.

Dr. Hart, Home From Latest Expedition Settles Down To Write New Book

By RAYLYN PENNEY

Dr. Henry Hersch Hart, having recently been hauled up in a basket to visit famous Meteora Monastery in Thessaly and just as eagerly gone down into the earth in Italy to visit Etruscan catacombs, is home again for a brief time with one new book just off the press and another in the writing.

His latest volume is a life of Luis de Camoens, greatest of the Portuguese poets, who lived from 1524 to 1580 and about 200 of whose poems Dr. Hart had previously translated into English.

His book now being written is also a biography, that of Emmanuel I of Portugal, who was ruling in the time of Vasco da Gama.

And home to the well known traveller and lecturer is both San Francisco and Carmel, where he and Mrs. Hart manage to spend a quiet, unhurried fortnight about twice a year.

In addition to the new books, Dr. Hart's Poems of the Hundred Names, translated from the Chinese, has recently been re-issued by Stanford University Press with a supplement, the fifth edition of the work.

Also his Venetian Adventurer, a life of Marco Polo, issued as a Bantam Biography in 1956, is in its seventh edition with 250,000 copies sold. His Sea Road to the Indies (Voyages of the Portu-

Public Hearing Monday On Zoning Notice Amendment

Monday night, 8:00 o'clock, the city council will hold a public hearing on an amendment to the municipal code which will reduce the number of written notices the city clerk will have to send out before the city council holds a public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance for the business district.

Under the present ordinance, in cases of re-zoning the city clerk is required to mail notice of public hearing to all property owners in a "zone of influence," the area surrounding the property to be rezoned.

In the case of the proposed new zoning ordinance, which will rezone the entire business district, written notices would have to be sent out to all property owners within 300 feet outside the business zone boundary. This involves a lot of work, City Clerk Lawrence Rose, Jr., pointed out some months ago when he had to do it for the planning commission public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance.

Though the amendment will relieve the clerk of mailing notices to the "zone of influence" property owners, he will still be required to notify the business property owners, as the owners of the property to be rezoned.

The amendment has a life limitation of one year written into it.

This year limitation was added to satisfy Harrison Godwin who objected to the amendment at its first hearing before the planning commission last month. The amendment applies to all rezoning, and in the case of rezoning of individual pieces of property, zone of influence property owners should have notice, he pointed out.

The council, meanwhile, has delayed setting a date for a public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance until they can process the reduce-the-written-notices amendment through first reading, public hearing and second reading, and it can become effective.

A Little Pine Joins A Distinguished Triad On Dolores Street

The street department event of the week, which has shaken Dolores Street to its desert foundations, is the planting of a pine in the sidewalk beside the Corner Cupboard, south of Ocean Avenue.

This brings the total pine count on business district Dolores Street south of Ocean up to four, and maintains the average of a pine per decade for this neglected area. The other pines:

The Saidee Van Brower Pine, planted several months after her death in 1943 in front of the building now occupied by the Studio Theatre. At the time of the pine planting, the building was occupied by the Carmel Pine Cone. City Hall was across the street upstairs. Saidee, then city clerk for many years, looking out of the window often deplored the fact that there was no pine tree in front of the Pine Cone. The late Bill Askew, with cheers from Cliff Cook who had recently become owner and publisher of the Pine Cone, planted a pine there in her memory.

Mark Raggett Carmel's Man On MPC Board

Last night Mark Raggett took his seat on the Monterey Peninsula Junior College Board after being installed as representative from the Carmel Unified School District. He replaced Walter Warfield, who vacated the seat after other members of the junior college board accepted his resignation.

Mr. Warfield resigned so that

The CFA Commissioner has approved an advance of $2,770 for preliminary planning, according to a telegram received today from Senator Clair Engle in Washington, D. C., for additions to Carmelo Elementary School in the Lower Valley.

The school serves an estimated 15,200 population and the addition will accommodate an additional 130 pupils after enlargement. The start of construction is expected in the spring of 1962.

Carmel Unified School District trustees requested that money, earmarked for planning an elementary school next to the proposed junior high at the mouth of the Valley, be transferred to planning for Carmelo. Senator Engle's telegram confirms this exchange.

Tuesday the county planners asked its staff to prepare an ordinance which would allow trailer courts in the R-4 zone on use permit. At present they are permitted only in commercial or industrial zones.

The planners' reasoning: more attractive trailer courts might be built if they could be established in more attractive areas.

Whether the residents of the county want trailer courts to become attractive in the literal sense of the word will probably develop when the public hearing is called. The possibility that the proposed ordinance will encourage a "mobile homes" boom in the county will be considered by the Carmel Citizens Committee Executive Board when they study the matter.

Colton Hall in Monterey was last used as a school 66 years ago. Two students of that era, Mrs. Josephine Fussell (Josie Simonneau) of Monterey and Louis A. Sanchez of Oakland, assembled a list of their former schoolmates for an all-day reunion on Monday.

Mrs. Fussell is the daughter of Jules Simonneau, proprietor of the restaurant where Robert Louis Stevenson ate his meals when he lived on the Peninsula. Mr. Sanchez is the "little Louis Sanchez on the beach at Monterey" for whom Stevenson wrote the poem, To My Name Child, in The Child's Garden of Verses. Mr. Sanchez is the son of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson's sister.

A hundred and fifty former Colton Hall students attended Monday's reunion and ate lunch together, according to Mrs. Fussell. Carmel Valley and Carmel residents who went to school at Colton Hall are Joseph Hitchcock, Lady Maria Antonia Field, Mrs. Tulita (Continued on Page Seventeen)

Carmel district, which voted to annex to the junior college district last spring, may be represented on the college board. Mr. Raggett will serve until June 30, 1961, the expiration date of Mr. Warfield's term of office.

Dr. Brooks Lockhart is chairman of the board. Other members are Ray Jones, Mrs. Marjorie O'Dea and Dr. Jack Hovick.

"We interviewed persons from Carmel district suggested as possible members of the board and Mr. Raggett was our unanimous choice to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Warfield's resignation," Dr. Lockhart stated this morning.

Dr. Frederick R. Huber, president of Monterey Peninsula College and secretary of the college board, was enthusiastic about Mr. Raggett's appointment, "A fine choice," he remarked today.

Other action of the college board last night was to act on the request of Pacific Grove school district to annex to the college district.

Pacific Grove School board members, after a public hearing last night, sent the annexation request to the college board. The MPC board then passed a resolution to file a petition for Pacific Grove to annex to Monterey Peninsula Junior College District with the County Board of Supervisors on Monday. Supervisors, the same day, will set the date for a public hearing on the Pacific Grove annexation by petition. This procedure eliminates an annexation election in Pacific Grove.

Mr. Raggett says he will find his work on the college board. (Continued on Page Twenty)

State Committee On Education Code To Meet Here Tuesday

The Joint Senate-Assembly Committee on Revision of the Education Code will meet at the Mark Thomas Inn Tuesday, it was announced this week by Assemblyman Sheridan Hegland (D) La Mesa, Chairman.

Dr. J. Russell Kent, of San Jose State, is expected to present a number of proposals designed to give greater uniformity and eliminate some contradiction in the present Code.

Election laws, as they involve school board members and school bond elections, will also be discussed.

Other members of the Committee are Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R) Watsonville, who is also Chairman of the Senate Education Committee; Senator Nelson S. Dilworth (R) Hemet, Vice Chairman; Senator Hugh P. Donnelly (D) Turlock; Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie (D) Antioch; and Assemblyman William S. Grant (R) Long Beach.

Fourteen Coast Counties Athletic League high school football teams kick open the 1960 season this Friday night in the annual league Jamboree at the Monterey Peninsula College stadium. Carmel High's varsity and junior varsity squads will be represented in this year's grid festival with the jayvees testing Live Oak and the Padre varsity matched with the A-league's North Salinas eleven.

While the football clashes are touted as the main attraction, actually the colorful show put on by the rooting sections overshadows the rock and sock action on the playing field. The Carmel High rooting section has won the perpetual trophy during the last two Jamborees and a win tomorrow night will permit the pep Padres to retire the trophy to the Carmel campus. To get in the mood for the Jamboree, the Padre Rally Club has slated a pep assembly for Friday morning at the Carmel High gym.

This is the first time the Carmel junior-varsity has participated in the Jamboree, but Coach Fred Rainer is confident his Little Padres can hold their own with the Live Oak varsity. Opening Friday night's action for the Carmel Jayvees will be Pat Olmsted and Pete Conway, ends; Cal Poissot and Ken Friddle, tackles; Bill Muscutt and Bob Albee, guards; Terry Tweedie, center; Bob Larsen, quarterback; Rick Baldwin and Terry Bishop, halfbacks; and Marlin Fluegge, fullback. Also slated for action are Dan Holman, Dave Rosenkranz, Dan Silveria, Gary Mumford, Dave Harris, Grant Pollock, Bob Wells, Stan Smith, Clayton Hilbert, Al Tegtmeyer, Terry Butler, David Preve, Bart Whelan, and Tom Faia.

Carmel's varsity, which is noted for starting each season in slow gear, appears to be overmatched against the A-league's North Salinas, but the big Padre forward wall could give the Vikings a pretty good test. The Padres figure to go on the offense with Doyle Clayton and Scott Forbes, ends; Bob Blair and Chris Wilkin, tackles; John Wilkin and Gary Sciutto, guards; Captain Paul Rice, center; Frank Bucher, quarterback; Mike Draper and Bill Coleman, halfbacks; and George Pollock, fullback. Filling in on defense will be ends Mike Quarrie and Paul Jones, guards Greg Hulsey and Frank Preve, linebacker Dan Moore, halfback Lee Olafson, and safetyman Frank Mayo. Also fit and ready for action are Joe Paraga, Bob Palma, Jim Kelley, Dennis Plasius, Mike Cole, Mike Smith, Lee Puryear, Jim Willcox, Don deBord, David Faulkner, Dick Panther, Charles Todd, Bart Blout, and Wylie Bryant.

A look at the pairings shows the West lineup slightly favored to win the total show. A rundown on the games shows Gonzales a slight favorite over San Lorenzo Valley; Carmel jayvee and Live Oak a toss-up; Pacific Grove an edge over Hollister; Gilroy to outscore King City; North Salinas over Carmel; Salinas favored to top Watsonville; and Monterey a little too fast for Santa Cruz. The West should win it but the East could pull upsets in several places and light up the scoreboard with the winning number.

RECORD TURNOUT FOR CARMEL HIGH LIGHTWEIGHTS

Forty candidates answered Coach Hadley Hick's call for lightweight gridders at Carmel High School and the prospects look bright for a successful season. This is the largest turnout for lightweight ball in Carmel High history and most of the candidates are in the freshman class.

A five-game schedule faces the Little Padres this season with the initial action slated for September 24 when the North Salinas lightweight reserves invade Bardarson Field for a 12:00 o'clock game. The little sprouts also take on the King

There is a perpetual trophy at stake. The new trophy was donated by Pacific Grove and Monterey Golf Clubs, and is on display now at the PG club house. It is rumored that in building the new club house at Pacific Grove, they have asked for a space to provide for this trophy. It is the hope and wishes of the Monterey Bay Club to leave this space vacant. The winning team will be declared the club champions of "The Golf Capital of the World". ## Day Of Discovery, Fall Meeting Of UCW Set For September 23

A Day of Discovery, the first fall meeting of United Church Women of the Monterey Peninsula, will be held on September 23, at the Christian Church in Pacific Grove, beginning at 10:00 o'clock. Members of the state board of U.C.W. will attend and take part in the program. This is the one meeting of the year devoted to local problems of the organization, as the programs for the three other meetings are arranged by a national committee and are used in national and international meetings of the women.

Theme for the day is Work, to be discussed by a state board member at the lunch in the social room of the church. Mrs. Perry Swann of Pacific Grove will preside at the luncheon, which will be potluck salad, with the hostess church providing rolls and coffee. Mrs. John R. Christie, president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of the Wayfarer, will take part in one of the discussion groups in the day's program.

At the U.C.W. board meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. Robert Petersen in Monterey, Mrs. J. H. McCartney, president of the organization, reported that 150 toilet kits contributed by members at the May meeting were gratefully received by migrant workers in this area, the central coast counties. The church women provide funds for religious and social activities for the seasonal workers in the vegetable fields and orchards, and for their children.

President of the state board of U.C.W., Mrs. Wilbur Root, will lead the group of visitors, including Mrs. Adrian West, chairman of public relations, Mrs. Neal McGowan of San Francisco, and Mrs. Paul Burns of San Jose, leader of the work in the central coast counties. This is the first time in several years that the Monterey Peninsula church women have entertained the state officers.

Mission San Miguel To Hold Annual Fiesta On Sunday

Old Mission San Miguel, on Highway 101, near Paso Robles, will hold its annual fiesta Sunday.

Indians, who once again live at the Mission, will demonstrate the arts and crafts that were taught by the Franciscan Padres when they founded the Mission in 1797. Brown-robed, sandaled friars will provide a direct link with the past as they show visitors the historic exhibits on display.

For the first time in the history of the Mission, visitors will be permitted to see the beautiful cloister gardens, which heretofore have been closed to the public. Funds from the fiesta will be used to complete restoration work at the Mission.

The fiesta opens at 10:00 o'clock in the morning with a Solemn High Mass in the historic church, which still has the original art work and decoration done by Indians in 1821.

An old-time barbecue, with 14-ounce sirloin steaks, will be served from noon until 4:00 o'clock. There will be music, entertainment and games throughout the afternoon.

The Mission is seven miles north of Paso Robles and about half way between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

CLASS ON RETARDED CHILD STARTS AT MPC MONDAY

Initiated at the request of a group of volunteer workers at Logan Hall School in Pacific Grove, an evening discussion class, The Mentally Retarded Child and This World, will open Monday at Monterey Peninsula College.

The class, open to all parents and teachers of the mentally retarded, will meet for nine two-hour Monday sessions through November 14, 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock in the Faculty Lounge. Participants must register at the college as for any other evening division college course prior to September 19.

James Stefan, Assistant County Superintendent of Schools in charge of Special Education, will instruct.

MILIAS HEADS NIXON-LODGE COMMITTEE FOR NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

Gilroy rancher George W. Milias, immediate past president of the Republican State Central Committee, yesterday was named vice president of the Nixon-Lodge Committee of Northern California.

The appointment was announced by Nixon-Lodge co-chairmen John Walton Dinkelspiel and Caspar W. Weinberger, who said that Milias will assume full charge of all campaign field activities.

Milias said his first step will be to call personally on all Republican headquarters throughout the north state, coordinating their various activities for an accelerated campaign.

Mathews Tells Guild Of Apprenticeship In European Cities

At the recent Carmel Craft Guild meeting, Mr. Kenneth Mathew, local jeweler, gave a talk on his career as maker of original jewelry.

"The first year of my four year apprenticeship," Mr. Mathew said, "my parents paid tuition. I received nothing. I was actually the janitor and messenger boy with the privilege of watching the work being done by the skilled workmen. I was worth nothing, but I learned a lot."

"After completing my apprenticeship, I worked in a number of shops, especially in Paris, to learn the specialty of the shop; or a different technique."

Mr. Mathew speaks several languages and has worked in various countries of Europe as well as in Asia and Africa.

"I am happy now," he said, "to be living in Carmel and have a store on ground level where children can watch me working through the window and where grown-up jewelry hobbyists can come in and get help on their problems in jewelry making."

Mrs. Patricia Hall, who represented the Carmel Craft Guild at the southwest regional conference of the American Craftsmen's Council at the University of Santa Barbara at Goleta, read a report.

The ACC is an organization of designer-craftsmen. Before acceptance, an applicant's work is juried by a committee of professional craftsmen. "This separates the superior and full time creators of beautiful work from the part time dabblers in the crafts," said Mrs. Hall, "and is a hallmark of quality." The theme of the conference was Production and Marketing.

"The keynote address by Architect Mario Ciampi alone was well worth the trip," said Mrs. Hall.

Among other speakers at the Southwest Conference was Bob Winston, well remembered for his demonstration before the local Guild of contemporary jewelry, with whom Mrs. Hall renewed acquaintance. "Tell my friends I'm moving to Arizona. I'm building a home and opening a craft center across from the Camelback Inn at Scarsdale. When you're down that way, drop in and see me." His topic was Art Shows and Festivals.

Plans are under consideration for the organization of an ACC unit on the Monterey Peninsula. Further information may be obtained by writing Marcia Chamblain, 1725 Washington, San Francisco 9.

Alfred Sanne

Alfred Bruno Sanne died unexpectedly Monday afternoon while on a visit to his physician's office to receive treatment for an ear ailment. The exact cause of death will be determined by autopsy.

A native of Berlin, Germany, Mr. Sanne had lived in Carmel since 1948. He formerly operated Normandy Restaurant. For the past six and a half years he had been in charge of catering at La Playa Hotel. His home was at Monte Verde Street and Twelfth Avenue.

His wife, Anna Belle Sanne of Carmel, is his only surviving relative.

Funeral services were held this afternoon in the Paul Funeral Chapel with Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, officiating. Burial was in El Carmelo Cemetery.

Colonel Mahon

Colonel Ross L'Estrange Mahon (USA ret.) died on Tuesday in a local hospital. He had been ill for only a short time.

Colonel Mahon was born in Detroit, Michigan, on April 16, 1890. He was both a World War I and World War II veteran.

Twenty years ago Colonel Mahon came to live in Carmel. His home was at Santa Lucia Street and Franciscan Way.

He is survived by his wife, Phyllis Underwood Mahon of Carmel; a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Fay Wadsworth of Pleasant Hill; a brother, William L'Estrange Mahon of Birmingham, Michigan; and three grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held today in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with the Reverend Bernard N. Lovgren, vicar of St. John's Episcopal Chapel, officiating.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Colonel Mahon may do so in the form of donations to their favorite charities.

Ted Kuster Eye-View Of Community Theatre's Forty Turbulent Years

The following is a transcript of a talk presented recently to the Book Section of the Carmel Woman's Club. No doubt there are other points of view and interpretations of the early-day theatrical rivalries in Carmel. This is Ted Kuster's own, which we are running serially in the Pine Cone. Views expressed by Mr. Kuster do not necessarily represent the opinions of the editor and publisher of this newspaper.

V.

Just the same it was skill—the skill of half-a-dozen high school boys trained to the split second and as proud of their fast work as any basketball team. Art for Sport's sake, that was the slogan Gordon Craig had recommended. And it worked. It worked then. It doesn't seem to work any more.

It was all too good to last. Late in 1931 I concluded that a vacation was due. My wife and I enjoyed a two months' holiday in New Mexico. Before we left Carmel a young man who had done some excellent acting during the previous season but who yearned to direct asked leave to produce a couple of plays on his own in our absence. I should have known by then what to expect from ruthless youthful ambition, but I suspected nothing. The young man made two good productions. When we returned he coolly informed me that he had formed a new and independent group and that his sponsor would come to see me. I looked over his list. It was definitely socialite in character. There were many subscribers who hadn't previously shown the slightest interest in Carmel dramatics. At length the sponsor arrived, a wealthy and imperious lady who was not accustomed to being thwarted. She introduced herself as President of the Carmel Community Players and at once demanded that I lease the Golden Bough Studio Theatre to them. When I demurred, saying that I had been doing very well, thank you, that my operation was every inch a satisfactory community activity, she said, "Mr. Kuster, either you'll lease us the theatre or I'll build them one." Now, that was a home thrust. She had at that time quite recently built and endowed a handsome institution with her own ample funds. In fact, I had seen the draft for a quarter of a million dollars which her local bank had drawn on her New York deposit. So if the lady said she would build a theatre she would probably do that very thing. I made the lease, and I was out in the cold. The young director who started all this was their employee for a while, but trouble set in almost immediately and then he, too, was out in the cold.

And so it happened that in 1933 I went to San Francisco and there produced a number of plays in the Mason and Sutter Street second floor theatre of the Western Women's Club, now the Marine Memorial Theatre. They were well received. They were mainly repetitions of plays already done in Carmel. I mention them to you now, not in a spirit of self-praise, but to prove to you that the Arthur Hopkins method of directing, from which I had borrowed freely, was bearing fruit.

The San Francisco Chronicle

said, "... it is an experiment in giving San Francisco high-class plays... a finely imaginative and very interesting production of Beggar on Horseback—Mr. Kuster has managed superbly the mechanics of this mad dream—it is delightful entertainment."

Production costs in San Francisco were higher than in Carmel, and I was losing money. But so was the community theatre group down here. At the end of their first year they were quarreling all over the place and had rolled up a handsome deficit, which their wealthy president paid. Late in the next year, 1934, I was employed to direct the season for the Fresno Players. The very first play again demonstrated the worth of my adopted method. I used their regular local players. The Fresno Bee's comment was, "The production showed thoroughly professional quality throughout. It was the best production the Fresno Players have given us in their more than 11 years of activity."

In the meantime the Carmel Community Players had disintegrated and folded and the Playhouse was mine once more, slightly the worse for wear and with its prestige considerably dimmed. The final crisis is worth recounting. The wealthy imperious one had set up as a condition for her paying off the second year's deficit that they repeat their production of Rain so that she might again play Sadie Thompson. The Board of Directors, at the end of their patience, said no, whereupon she swore a good round sailor's oath and walked out. Mrs. Van Riper paid off half of the deficit, but they didn't include the final six months' rent, which I'm still waiting for. That was 26 years ago.

The last production in the Fresno season was, as it turned out, a harbinger of Fate. It was By Candlelight, a sprightly Continental comedy of errors which I had translated from the German. I did it with a guest cast from Carmel. The only Fresnan was the leading lady, a charming girl named Barbara Collins, whom you know as Barbara Norberg. Now, at this time, April, 1935, I was negotiating with the movie tenants of the original Golden Bough, whose lease was up. They wanted a renewal, but I refused this, plugging for joint use of the theatre, namely, an arrangement whereby we could perform a stage play for a weekend once a month. I argued that this would bring an influx of new people into the house and would help their own movie business. At length they consented to allow a sample performance on a weekend night after the motion picture showing. So on Friday night, May 17, at 11:00 o'clock we gave a performance of By Candlelight before an overflow audience. It was the first stage play for years in that lovely theatre and it was an overwhelming success.

On the next day, Saturday, the lessees had their matinee and evening movie showings as usual.

On Sunday morning, May 19, at 6:30 o'clock, a green car was seen by the gardener across the street to stop near the stage entrance on Monte Verde Street. He dragged his hose around to the rear garden. When he returned after 20 minutes the green car was gone, one of the double doors of the stage entrance was open and smoke and flames were pouring out. I won't go into the details of that terrific fire. The theatre was completely destroyed except for the lobby, which still stands and has been converted into some small shops. Deficient water supply and insufficient water pressure made the ruin of the structure a certainty. Subsequently the city installed larger water mains on Ocean Avenue. Carmel mourned its loss for a little while and then forgot about it. Bassett wrote a prophetic sort of obituary in the Pacific Weekly, "The fire wrote tragedy across something that is, or was, the core of Carmel, and I wonder if the last vestige of the dream of those who first came here and settled in the pines, is not gone with the going of the Golden Bough."

I didn't stop to argue the point with Mr. Bassett. The depression was still with us, rent for the Golden Bough was at an end, and I had to get busy. I had a little insurance—my neighbors hadn't any—for we had all cut down on insurance so as to be able to get a maximum of income from the properties. Luckily, the surrounding shops suffered no damage.

I used the small insurance money in fitting out the little Monte Verde Street Playhouse with the best motion picture equipment in the market. I launched it as the Filmarthe and put Dick Bare in charge. It was the first so-called art movie between Los Angeles and San Francisco. Once more I returned to San Francisco. I established a small, elegant little theatre on Sutter Street near Van Ness in an attractive building that had been built originally as a Jewish young people's auxiliary to their synagogue. I called it Golden Bough Playhouse. I started producing plays. The idea was to develop a group in San Francisco who would make supplementary guest performances in the Carmel Filmarthe, and establish a special group in Carmel which could give guest performances in San Francisco. It was a good idea, I think, but it never came to pass.

The San Francisco plays were going nicely when suddenly I ran into a stone wall. The managements of the Curran and Geary Theatres began to turn a fishy eye on the little 200-seat amateur house out on Sutter Street. Very cleverly they drew the attention of the theatrical employees' union to my operation. Pretty soon an agent came to see me. "You charge admission, yes?" "Yes, sure." "Well, ya gotta have three union men here—electrician, carpenter and one stagehand." "But", said I, "I don't have any employees here—I (Continued on Page Seventeen)

R. McLean, Fiance Of Jeanie Elston Killed In Accident

Tragedy struck unexpectedly on Friday when Rodger McLean was killed by a falling limb while fighting forest fires caused by lightning in Stanislaus National Forest near Woods Ridge Lookout. He and Jean Elston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Elston, had become engaged two days previously.

Jeanie has been stationed at Woods Ridge Lookout this summer with the National Forest Service. She was watching her fiance as he cleaned up a burned area near the lookout when a limb, ten inches in diameter, fell 120 feet from a tree and struck Rodger on the head. Jeanie immediately sent out an emergency radio call for help as did, also, her sister, Patty, who was visiting her at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Elston were vacationing in Southern California and could not be reached. When they learned of the accident, they left for Stanislaus National Forest and remained with their daughter until she returned to her firewatching duties on Monday, following her fiance's funeral.

Jeanie and Rodger had known one another since childhood. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McLean who live near Jeanie's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Sidney Elston, above Coulterville. On Wednesday of last week he gave Jeanie her engagement ring.

James M. R. Glaser's
Third Letter From Rome On The Games

Direct from Rome
from
James M. R. Glaser

The weeks and months . . . yes, the years of work, of conditioning, of schooling, all have passed by, and now, this very week, we are in the midst of the days of the Equestrian portion of the Olympics. The stress, the pressure, the excitement, are all there, and the realization that now we are indeed competing with the nations of the world is fully upon each and every one of us. People in the street, in the hotels, in the restaurants, no matter where one goes, are so imbued with the whole matter, that there is little else spoken of. One sees the badges of the many nations competing wherever one goes, with the insignia of each country upon the jacket. It would almost seem that the person without a badge of some sort was few and far between, and especially so in the Excelsior Hotel, inasmuch as this is the headquarters of the International Olympic Committee.

The papers, as I've said, devote whole sections to the Games, with the Daily American, the English language paper, carrying from one to three columns of free want ads for those desiring to buy, sell or exchange tickets for one or other of the events. The shops have the Olympic insignia in some form or other, wherever one looks, be it on scarves, pins, ties, or what-have-you. The taxi driver queries as to your interest in the Games; and above all, there's the ever-present sense of politeness, of seeking to act the host, and the great, the tremendous pride in this so lovely, so beautiful city.

The other day, come 5:30 in the morning, we were on our way to the site of the Three-Day Event, some 25 miles out of town, and inadvertently took a wrong turn, with the result that we were not too sure of our whereabouts. Seeing a man on a motorcycle, we asked him the way to the Appia Nuova, and, having started to give us directions, he finally led us directly to it, just one example of what we've been met with. Speaking of motorcycles, those and scooters seem to move in hordes, with the passenger, if a lady, riding side-saddle, on the left side of the saddle-seat, and those one sees by the score and the hundreds.

I do so hope that it is realized that, in the Games, we meet the tops in the world, in their specific events. Tomorrow is the day.

Alice Williams

Mrs. Alice Laidlaw Williams, widow of Jesse Lynch Williams, playwright and author, died on Thursday in her home on Carmel Point. She had been ill for a number of months.

Mrs. Williams was born in Jersey City, New Jersey, on March 10, 1872. Her childhood and youth were spent in New York City. She studied voice with Frank Damrosch and as a young girl sang with the New York Oratorio Society.

Mrs. Williams also wrote using the pen name Deborah Joy. Several of her short stories were published in the Saturday Evening Post and a cook book she compiled and wrote was also published.

Her marriage to Jesse Lynch Williams took place in 1898 at Sands Point, Long Island.

In the early 1920s Mrs. Williams came with her husband from Princeton, New Jersey, to spend summers in Carmel and to visit Mr. Williams' mother, Mrs. Meade Creighton Williams, a Carmel resident. Following the death of her husband in 1929, Mrs. Williams came to Carmel to live permanently.

She was a founding member of the Carmel Music Society and served on the board of directors of this organization.

Mrs. Williams was a gracious hostess. Her kindly concern in the lives of her family and friends was manifest. During past years her main interest was the garden of her home on Carmelo Street near Seventeenth Avenue. Her son, Lyn, (Jesse Lynch Williams, Jr.) lived with her.

Survivors include two other sons, Henry Meade Williams of Carmel and Laidlaw Williams of Carmel Highlands; a sister, Mrs. Edward Roesler of Great Neck, Long Island; five grandchildren, Mrs.

Karen Bryant of Carmel, Christopher Williams, a student at Pratt Institute in New York City, Mrs. Lacy Faia of Los Angeles, Alice Williams of Carmel Highlands and Bosworth Williams, a student at Harvard University; and two great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held on Friday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Chodorov Comedy At Carmel Circle Theatre Is Best Show Of Season

BY VIRGINIA SHAW

One of the more uproarious skirmishes in the battle of the sexes is drawn by Edward Chodorov in Oh Men! O Women!, which opened last weekend at the Golden Bough Circle with every appearance of being a hit.

This is sophisticated comedy of the first chop, and the production is one of the Circle's best efforts of the season. Much of the credit is due to the triple-threat talents of Frederick and Marcia Rider for the equally stylish direction (his), staging (hers), and acting (Mr. Rider also heads the first-class cast).

Rider's role is that of a high-minded psychoanalyst, Alan Coles, whose scientific detachment in his profession and personal involvement in his baby-doll bride to be, Myra, become sorely strained when revelations about her past crop up in the soul-barings of a pair of patients. One of them, a wildly compulsive young man, has come somewhat unglued as a result of a steamy affair with Myra; the other, a weepy wife who has everything except the feeling of being necessary, has in addition a husband who also, it appears, dallied with the doctor's intended. Being exasperated both with his spouse and her analyst, said husband threatens to torpedo Dr. Coles' engagement.

As characters and situations are developed through three tumultuous acts covering the in-and-out of office hours preceding the couple's shipboard elopement, playwright Chodorov arms all sides with the ammunition of a formidable and penetrating wit. And though his touch is light and satirical, he gets in some telling observations on the discontents of our affluent, mixed-up society — and interestingly enough, puts in a strong argument naming Ibsen, rather than Freud, as the origin of much of the trouble. Anyway, the analytically-oriented Circle audience seemed to find the digs at psychiatry particularly hilarious, and local practitioners or the profession will probably get thoroughly weary of hearing about Oh Men! Oh Women! from gleeful patients and friends.

Paced by Mr. Rider's skilled direction and example, the cast at the Circle plays with high style and spirits. Demonstrating that big gifts come in little packages, a tiny, dynamic newcomer named Allene Venegas gives a sparkling performance as the exasperating, childlike and irrepressible Myra. Margaret Phillips creates a wonderfully lugubrious character as Mildred Turner, the self-pitying patient whose rambling monologues on the analyst's couch are among the plays choicer moments. Coolest performance comes from Nick Zanides, an actor of great urbanity and with a keen sense of timing, as the unhappy lady's home-loving husband, Arthur. Peter Weldon is consistently funny as Myra's distracted former suitor, outfitting his portrayal with a fascinating syndrome of tics, twitches and grimaces. Michael Franke makes warmly convincing the role of Dr. Krauss, wise and worldly mentor of the put-upon Dr. Coles, and Mary Weisiger is irreproachable as the young analyst's imperturbably efficient secretary. Reinhold Meric appears briefly and effectively as a steward aboard the ship.

The three settings which frame the show are handsomely furnished and effectively arranged, the actors fashionably outfitted, and all other effects contributing to an effective production in fine order. Paul Fiske, Mike Smith and Jerry Zellhofer are credited with lighting and sound, Claranne Nigg and Robin Davey with props.

Oh Men! Oh Women! will doubtless continue to delight as many people as can be packed into the Circle on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, with show time at 8:30 o'clock.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN as follows:

Section 1. That Part VIII, Division 6, of the Municipal Code be amended by the addition of a new section, to be known as Section 1190, which shall read as follows:

Section 1190. All wiring for any communications systems, telephone, alarm and signalling; which are to be installed in any building erected in Fire Zone No. 2, as the same is defined in Section 706 of the Municipal Code, shall be connected to the building by means of a lateral of continuous, rigid conduit placed underground from the building to the curb of the sidewalk, and attached to an approved terminal box at that point.

From such terminal box the system shall be run underground to the closest existing facility provided by the utility involved. This requirement shall be effective on all new buildings; and in addition, on all existing buildings in which or to which an exterior line or lines required to supply a communication service are required to be added to or rebuilt."

Section 2. Effective Date. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after its final passage and adoption.

CERTIFICATION OF CITY CLERK
I, L. D. Rose, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, California, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 22 C.S. which was given its first reading at an Adjourned Meeting of the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, held on the 18th day of August, 1960, and finally adopted at a Regular Meeting of the said Council on the 7th day of September, 1960.

I further certify that upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

DATED this 8th day of September, 1960.

Carmel Raises
Third Of Chest
Quota In Advance

Though the Community Chest drive will not start officially until tonight, Carmel has already raised a third of $32,000, its quota.

At 5:30 o'clock, Pacific Coast Daylight time, President Eisenhower will address the volunteers in the nation's 2,300 Community Chest and United Fund Drives, on stations KPIX-TV channel 5 and KRON-TV channel 4, and all major radio networks.

Oliver D. Willits, national chairman of United Community Chest Campaigns of America, will respond to the President on behalf of the volunteers who serve in this campaign.

Community Chest Volunteer solicitors from Carmel, The Highlands, Big Sur, Carmel Valley upper and lower areas, will gather in the assembly room of All Saints' Episcopal Church tomorrow to see the Community Chest color sound film Your Community Chest and to hear a talk by Colonel C. E. Howland General Campaign Chairman of the 1961 Fund Drive.

The sound film was made by the Community Chest and depicts the varied activities of seven of the Community Chest agencies.

GARDEN JET

With a miniature crash
And a streak of green,
The humming bird darts
almost unseen.

Then poised for a breath
On wings a-whirr,
Refuels at the foxglove
And off in a blur!

TODAY

Wise men tell us nothing really matters;
In a hundred years all things will be the same,
But today it seems to me my heart's in tatters
Realizing that you do not even know my name!

Perhaps the wise ones are right in what they say—
For a hundred years add up to quite a while;
But, oh, it would mean so much to me today
For you to look at me and stop—and turn—and smile!

—ELIZABETH WILLIAMS COSGROVE

WHARVES OF TANAKEE

From the millinery of cities
She has come to wharves
Where heads of tin-bright fish
Are nailed on doors.
Not in Tanakee
Is the house of her father.
Here where Alaska Salmon
Is stamped on five million cans,
Men and women heavy booted
Shine with sun
And scale-silvered hands.

Routine of fingers
Takes on the ageless rhythm
Of sea water.
Side by side between baskets
And solid Indians
She, now whistle-driven,
Becomes waker or walker,
Worker or watcher,
Alien,
On the wharves of Tanakee.

Art On The Peninsula

Carmel Highlands Gallery is now open daily from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until sunset, according to Mrs. Joshua Meador, who, with her artist husband, operates the gallery in the old fire house situated above Highlands Inn. The gallery also will be open evenings by appointment, she adds.

Starting on Monday, the work of painters, sculptors and artists-craftsmen who live within the Carmel Highlands Fire District boundaries, Carmel River to Malpaso Creek, will be shown at the Highlands Gallery.

"We think a neighborhood show is a good way to start the fall season," Mrs. Meador remarks. Sunday afternoon from 5:00 - 7:00 o'clock Highlands area residents are invited to a preview party.

Victor Manuel Cuevas of Monterrey, Mexico, is studying with John Cunningham at the Carmel Art Institute. He is here under the United States Exchange Visitor Program and is sponsored by the Tulare Art League. For the past two years Victor Cuevas has been an art student at the College of the Sequoias in Visalia, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Visalia. Joseph Russell, art instructor at the College of the Sequoias, recommended further study at the Carmel Art Institute. Mr. Russell studied at the institute some years ago.

At present Victor is looking for parttime employment to supplement his income from the art league. Mr. Cunningham would welcome any suggestion and may be reached at MA 4-8481 or Box 9, Carmel.

Artists are reminded that entries for the Jazz Festival Art Show should be taken to the Fairgrounds on September 22 from noon until 7:00 o'clock in the evening. There will be an entry fee of $1.00 to receive awards, according to Mrs. Joshua Meador, who is in charge of the Festival show this year.

Entries for Northern California Arts, Inc., seventh Annual Open Exhibition will be received at the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery September 16 and 17 between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 4:00 in the afternoon. This exhibition is open to all residents of northern California, extending south to Bakersfield. Entry blanks may be obtained from Exhibition Chairman Aaron Hofeditz, 1400 Perkins Way, Sacramento 18, or the Crocker Art Gallery.

All entries, including crafts, must be original and not previously shown at the Crocker Art Gallery. Two dimensional works are limited to a maximum width of 48 inches and a maximum weight of 100 pounds. Entries must be accompanied by $1.00.

The works will be judged September 18 by a jury of acceptance and awards, composed of the following artists: Jason Schoener, N. Eric Oback, Bob McCabe, Ben Kypridakis, Ray Radliff and Thomas C. Leighton. Prizes will be awarded.

The exhibition will open with a reception and preview for Northern California Arts Inc. members and all submitting artists and their guests, from 2:00 to 4:00 o'clock October 2. The accepted works will remain on exhibit through October 23.

Northern California Arts, Inc., is the oldest organization of its kind in Sacramento, with a membership of over 160 artists and lay members devoted to furthering awareness of the arts in the community through exhibitions, lectures and art demonstrations.

The Atascadero Art Club (Congratulations to little Atascadero for having an art club) will present its first annual art festival on September 24, from 10:00 o'clock to 10:00 o'clock.

The festival will be held in the sunken gardens in front of the Veterans' Memorial Building on Highway 101.

Frances Joslin Secu writes: "The theme is Art in Action, and includes both elementary and high school talent, as well as fine artists and craftsmen from Atascadero, and the best talent both artists and musical Atascadero has to offer. Included is a 10:00 o'clock

"The program starts at 1:00 o'clock and includes organ and piano music, vocal solos and duets; a piano monolog; Spanish dances; ballet on the grass, and an hour-long demonstration of square dancing, including dancers from Paso Robles, Dos Pisos and San Luis Obispo. Hoedowners.

There will also be small exhibits by artists working."

White stock and chrysanthemums decorated Carmel Mission Basilica on September 3 when Anne Lenore Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldo Hicks, was married to Peter Sherman Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Kimball.

The bride and groom exchanged rings and vows during a Nuptial Mass celebrated at 11:00 o'clock by Father James Voytko before 300 relatives and friends. The wedding music was played on the organ by Robert J. Forbes, the bride's former music teacher.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white peau taffeta princess style gown. Scallops of Swiss embroidery edged the cowl neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, with similar embroidery defining the waistline. The full skirt fell in back into a chapel sweep train. Her mantilla of Belgian princess lace had a scalloped edge and she carried a colonial bouquet of white stephanotis and bouvardia.

Carroll Ann Rice of Pebble Beach was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Susan Bradley, Phyllis McMullen and Patricia Maxwell, Dominican College classmates of the bride. They were dressed alike in peppermint green organza frocks with scoop necklines, three-quarter length sleeves and bell skirts. Flat bows of the organza were used for their headdresses and to mark the front waistline of their gowns. Pink and white carnations were mingled in their colonial bouquets and their shoes matched their dresses.

Junior bridesmaid was Kathleen Kimball, the bridegroom's sister. Her white organza dress had a peppermint green cummerbund and her hat, bouquet and shoes were similar to those of the older attendants.

Claude Kimball Jr. was best man for his brother. Ushers were Anthony Andrade, Charles Peatt and John Hicks, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Hicks attended her daughter's wedding in a crepe cafe au lait draped sheath dress with matching shoes, green feather hat, green accessories and a green cymbidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Kimball, mother of the bridegroom, wore a full-skirted brown and turquoise print taffeta dress, matching brown shoes, turquoise velvet hat and a corsage of white rosebuds.

The reception following the ceremony was held at the Carmel Woman's Club. White stock and chrysanthemums were used to decorate the reception room, with similar flowers, arranged with pink gladiolii, on the champagne and hors d'oeuvres tables.

After the bridal couple had cut their three-tiered wedding cake, adorned with lilies of the valley and topped with white bells, the bride changed to a navy blue raw silk dress with matching jacket, red shoes and purse, a red and blue feather hat and white butterfly orchid corsage before leaving with her husband for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe.

They are now living in San Jose where the bridegroom is employed by McKesson Robbins, a pharmaceutical firm.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Hicks who came to live in Carmel in 1911. Her wedding day was the same day of the month as that on which her grandparents were married. She is a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls and Dominican College, Class of 1960.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor S. Kimball of Lake Tahoe, came to Carmel for the marriage of her grandson. He is a graduate of Villanova Preparatory School and Santa Clara University, Class of 1957.

Mrs. Arnold Weds Dr. Brownell

Before a background of banked greenery and yellow and white flowers, Mrs. Beverly Arnold and Dr. Raymond Brownell were married at the Beach Club on Friday evening. Judge Anthony Brazil performed the ceremony witnessed by a large group of the couple's friends.

Philip Arnold gave his mother in marriage. She was attended by her mother, Mrs. Paul Lawrence of Cleveland, Ohio, and Dr. Brownell's daughter, Mrs. Norman McClean of Calumet, Michigan. Mr. McClean was best man for his father-in-law.

The bride wore a dress of peacock blue peau de soie, a matching hat of small velvet bows and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley.

Yellow and white flowers were arranged on the long buffet table for the reception which followed the ceremony.

Nagleys Compare Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Nagley, in their home in Montreal, Canada, are comparing notes on separate visits to Carmel. Mr. Nagley came here last spring and Mrs. Nagley has just arrived home after two weeks in Carmel where both were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richardson.

Mrs. Nagley traveled across Canada by train, then cruised from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Alaska and back before coming down the Pacific Coast by boat to Los Angeles. She came north by train to San Francisco where Mr. Richardson met her and drove her down the coast to Carmel.

After leaving here Mrs. Nagley took the train to New York where her husband met her and together they drove through Vermont on their way home to Montreal.

Dr. Berne In Guatemala

"I'm flying to Guatemala after I've had a swim," Dr. Eric Berne announced to friends on Reamer's Beach Sunday afternoon. Two hours later he was on his way to observe Indian tribes in the Guatemalan mountain areas.

Dr. Berne, a psychiatrist, has been investigating the mental health of remote and primitive societies for some years. He has reached the conclusion that the percentage of these peoples hospitalized for emotional disturbance equals that of the United States.

Mr. Broadman Has Life Diploma

Joseph S. Broadman, art teacher at Sunset School, was awarded a Life Diploma as a special secondary art teacher at the Monterey County School Board meeting in Salinas on Monday. Life diplomas are granted after at least five years of satisfactory service and administrative recommendation in the appropriate field of education.

Toland Doud To Practice Here

Dr. Toland Doud, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Doud, has returned here to live and to open a dental practice in Carmel. He and his wife, Beverly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix E. Dowgiallo, and their daughters, Melinda Margaret, eight, Laurie Jean, seven, and Marion Janette, three, are already settled in Carmel Valley.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Doud are graduates of Carmel High School. Dr. Doud was a member of the Class of 1942, second class to graduate from the school. Mrs. Doud graduated in 1948.

During World War II Dr. Doud served with the Navy in the South Pacific on an LST craft after attending midshipmen's school at Notre Dame University. Following the war he entered Stanford University and obtained a bachelor's degree in biological sciences and a master's degree in physiology. He was a medical technician for a time before entering dental school. In June he graduated with honors from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco.

He will open offices on Lincoln Street as soon as they are ready for occupancy.

Altar Society Meeting

Members of Carmel Mission Altar Society met recently for their opening meeting this year at the home of Mrs. Robert Giet. Mrs. Edward W. Roberts was co-hostess. New members were welcomed by the president, Mrs. S. Haskett Derby.

The Reverend Father James C. Voytko, spiritual director for the group, spoke about the importance of participating in the dialogue of the Mass.

Miss Genevieve Gehres and Mrs. Erna Roland presided at the tea table.

Cow Belles Meeting

Joan Linn, Public Relations Director of the California Beef Council, was the speaker at the new Monterey County unit of the Cow Belles, meeting last week at the Palace Restaurant in Gonzales.

The Cow Belles, women's auxiliary of the Cattlemen's Association, had fifty of their members in attendance at the luncheon meeting. Miss Linn, on hand to foster coordination of activities of the new Cow Belles chapter and the California Beef Council presented a colored slide-film outline of current beef promotions sponsored by the Beef Council.

Sharon Heisel Married

Captain Harold N. Heisel (USN Ret.) and Mrs. Heisel are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Sharon, to Sidney Swanson. The ceremony took place in San Francisco on September 4.

Sharon and Sidney met last year when both were attending Monterey Peninsula College. Sidney was a sophomore and Sharon, a Carmel High School graduate, was a freshman. They are now living in Santa Barbara where Sidney is employed with a construction firm. He plans to enter the University of California at Santa Barbara later this year.

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

Here's something new. It's a drive-up phone. And right now it's being tested around the Pacific West to see if folks find it as handy and convenient as we think it is. The idea is to provide curbside phone service so you can call without getting out of your car—a real convenience. It's lighted so you can use it at night as well as during the day. We think you'll find it a faster and easier way to telephone when you're in your car and want to make a call.

There's gold in your telephone. Not very much, to be sure. Gold is used because it just won't rust. And it's put in spots such as dial switch points to insure long, trouble-free service. I suppose you're wondering how much the gold in your phone is worth. The folks at Western Electric who make our phones say there's less than a penny's worth in each. That's hardly enough to tip these scales or go prospecting for, but plenty to help keep your phone dependable.

September is schooltime, and a lot of young people will be leaving home for college or boarding school. Here's one good way to stay in touch with them—by telephone. Lots of folks set a regular time for calling and keeping up on the news. And more often than not, this time is on a Sunday or on weekdays after 6:00 p.m. when station-to-station rates are lower. The pleasure is big and the cost is small—a lot smaller than you think—when you keep in touch by telephone.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg
A new book on the presidency caused us to check through our catalog to discover the books we have which are especially pertinent this election year. The following books might be grouped under titles such as Books About Politics and the American Political Scene, and Books About and By Presidential Candidates of Today, or some such. In this list we show the call number after the listing of the book.

Bendiner, Robert. White House Fever; and Innocent's Guide to Principles and Practices, Respectable and Otherwise, Behind the Election of American Presidents. Harcourt, 1960. (329)

Bowles, Chester. The Coming Political Breakthrough. Harper, 1959. (329) This is a book about the real issues in 1960 as Mr. Bowles sees them. Has been called "a guide book for Democratic Liberals".

Fenno, Richard. The President's Cabinet; an Analysis in the Period from Wilson to Eisenhower. Harvard Univ. Press, 1959. (353.05) This is a searching, comprehensive interpretation of the President's Cabinet.

Hoyle, Edwin. Jumbo and Jackasses, a Popular History of Political Wars. Doubleday, 1960. (329) Traces the issues and the politicians from the time of the Lincoln-Douglas debates up to the present campaign.

Lipset, Seymour. Political Man; the Social Bases of Politics. Doubleday, 1960. (321.8) An economic study of the political scene.

Sevareid, Eric. Candidates 1960; Behind the Headlines in the Presidential Race. Basic Books, 1959. (329.01) A discussion of Rockefeller, Nixon, Humphrey, Kennedy, Stevenson, Symington, and Johnson.

Alsop, Stewart. Nixon and Rockefeller. Doubleday, 1960. (Bc) The author says he chose to tell episodes in the lives of both men which reveal them most clearly.

Mazo, Earl. Richard Nixon. Harper, 1959. (B-N) An appraisal of Richard Nixon as a person, a politician, and a potential president.

Burns, James M. John Kennedy. Harcourt, 1960. (B-K) An election year biography, lucid and revealing, sympathetic yet objective.

Martin, Ralph. Front Runner, Dark Horse. Doubleday, 1960. (Bc) A political study of Senators Kennedy and Symington.

We also have copies of the two books written by candidates John Kennedy. Their titles are Profiles in Courage, and The Strategy of Peace. The latter is a collection of speeches by the Senator giving his views on our foreign relations.

The new book which started all this is called The Invisible Presidency and it was written by Louis Koenig. It gives portraits in words of the various people who have wielded power behind the scenes at the White House, such men as Sherman Adams and Harry Hopkins. The author is a Professor of Government at New York University.

We have several more books on politics, most of them a year or two older than these. The main thing is to remember to vote, even though you forget the party and concentrate on the candidate himself.

SENATOR FARR HEADS DEMOCRATIC DOLLAR DRIVE

State Senator Fred Farr is in charge of the Dollars-for-Democrats campaign in Carmel. Goal of the event which takes place today, tomorrow and Saturday is to obtain $1 from every registered Democrat. Collectors will circulate, each designated by an arm band. Funds will be divided three ways, one-third for Monterey County Democratic candidates, one-third to state headquarters for use of Democratic candidates in the fall election, one-third to the Democratic National Committee for campaign organization.

Florence Viall and Ruth Kipnis are in charge of the Pebble Beach area, Del Neel and Julia Schloss for Carmel Valley.

LOFTON ART SHOW

Richard Lofton spent Tuesday in Salinas hanging a one-man show of his oils and water colors in the new Hartnell College library at the request of Leon Amyx of the art department. The show is to remain on exhibit for a month.

Pine Needles...*Hulsey Family New Residents

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hulsey and their four children, Charles Jr., Gregg, Judy and Susie, arrived here Labor Day week end to live in the Gatcombe house on Hatton Road. They came to Carmel from Oroville in the apple-growing Okanogan Valley in the northern part of the State of Washington. Mr. Hulsey owns a pharmacy in Oroville and will open another pharmacy in the Carmel Plaza complex at the beginning of October.

Mr. and Mrs. Hulsey's older son, Charles Jr., left this week for the University of Southern California where he is a third year student in the School of Dentistry.

Gregg, the Hulsey's second son, is a 235-pound tackle on the Carmel High School football team and their daughter, Susie, is a Carmel High freshman.

Mrs. Hulsey is a grand officer, Order of the Eastern Star, for the State of Washington. She and her husband discovered Carmel last April when they flew their Comanche plane to the Monterey Peninsula. They brought the plane here when they moved to Carmel and keep it at Monterey Airport.

County Clerk Lions Speaker

County Clerk Emmett McMenamin told about early families of the Monterey Peninsula at this week's Lions Club meeting held at Tom's Cafe. He was the guest of Lion Allan E. Champe.

A.A.U.W. Tea Saturday

Monterey Peninsula branch American Association of University Women will inaugurate fall activities with a tea at the Carmel Woman's club from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon.

Plans for the tea and for the first general membership luncheon on October 15, at Corral de Tierra Country Club were made when the board met recently with Mrs. Everett Bibb of Carmel.

Mrs. Richard Roberts of Carmel, membership chairman, is in charge of plans for the tea. Seaside members assisting are Mrs. F. O. Forbes, Mrs. David Stoddard, Mrs. B. C. Revoir of Del Rey Oaks is hospitality chairman.

The first section meeting of the Afternoon Book Group is scheduled for September 27 in the home of Mrs. C. P. Vetter, Flanders Drive, Carmel.

Mrs. B. G. Moises of Del Rey Oaks will represent the branch at a regional workshop in San Rafael on Sept. 23.

Due Back From Orient

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGinnis and their children, Marcia and Bobby, are due back in Carmel today from the Orient. A postcard from Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis in Honolulu reports that they have been delighted with their trip but would have enjoyed even more time ashore in the countries they visited.

"The most welcome gift we received in Manila, Hong Kong and Japan was a copy of the Pine Cone," they add, and remark that they circulated the paper among passengers on the President Hoover.

Arthur Murrays Weekend Here

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Murray will be guests at Del Monte Lodge this weekend. They are coming here to attend the annual convention of the Arthur Murray Dancing Schools of California Inc. at Sunset School Auditorium on Saturday and Sunday.

New Youth Center Officers

Bill Coleman, Carmel High senior, was elected president of the Carmel Youth Center last Friday night. Other officers for the coming year are Jean Pistulka, vice president; Karen Freitag, secretary; Pat Bein, treasurer; Ricky Baldwin, public relations; Tony Shower, sergeant at arms; Pam Petersen, historian.

The Benny Goodman Story is the movie that will be shown at the Center Saturday evening through the courtesy of the Carmel Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs.

Latest fund drive report from Jack Giles, director of activities, is that $5,744 has been received towards the $7,660 necessary to keep the teenage recreation center open for another year.

League's Measures Meeting

The League of Women Voters will hold its first meeting of the 1960-61 calendar year, which will also be its ballot measures meeting, with a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at Mark Thomas Inn on September 22. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Don McKenzie, MA 4-7268 before September 20.

The public is always welcome at League of Women Voters meeting, and is especially invited to attend the traditional election year "measures meeting" in which measures on the November ballot are analyzed.

Westfall, Mrs. Juanita Johnson Cooper, Joe P. Miller and Mrs. Mary Alexander De Serpa. Charles L. Williams, father of Leonard S. Williams of Carmel Valley and a Colton Hall student, was one of those attending the reunion, Mrs. Fussell reports.

Annual Business District Crop Report. This year Ocean Avenue growers utilizing free sidewalk land areas are Kip's Market, tomatoes, good foliage, fruit formed but green; Derek Rayne Ltd. Importers, stalk of corn, well tasseled, two ripening ears; Putnam and Raggett, beans, underdeveloped due to cluster planting.

Already harvested is the crop of ripened tomatoes in the planting strip on the north edge of Pilot's Market parking lot. Sprouted last week were crops of beans and corn in the new planters at Carmel Drive In Market, fine fodder for Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines.

Carmel's Post Office Party was a success. Several hundred residents turned out to hear Congressman Charles M. Teague, Ralph Oxen of the San Francisco Postal Department office, Mayor Frank Putnam, Postmaster Fred Strong and Robert Spencer, president of the Carmel Business Association, make brief welcoming speeches, then ate cake, drank coffee, inspected Carmel's enlarged post office facilities and visited, the latter a post office tradition which occurs daily when residents meet at they go to get their mail from the boxes.

Mrs. Maurice Hanssens and Mrs. James Lee, wives of the owners of the post office site and building, cut a white ribbon to signify the opening of Carmel's larger and spruced up post office premises.

ORA FALLIS FOLK RECITAL PLEASES USO AUDIENCE

Ora Fallis, mezzo soprano, gave a program of folk songs at the USO Monday evening including wellknown English, Welsh, Scotch, Irish, French and American selections. Her diction was good, even in the Cockney and Scottish dialogue numbers, she has developed

Mrs. Forde Studying Monterey Pines On Fulbright Grant

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Forde of New Zealand left on Sunday to return to the University of California at Davis after several days here as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams of Carmel Highlands. Both of them are studying at Davis with fellowship grants. Mrs. Forde has a Fulbright fellowship for genetics research on the Monterey pine, suggested by the New Zealand Forest Department. She is working at Davis on this project with Dr. Ledyard Stebbins, frequent Carmel visitor whose children attended local schools. Mr. Forde is studying the effects of radioactivity on plants, particularly in respect to radioactive elements in weed killers.

While here Mrs. Forde collected needles, cones and resin from local pines. The resin will be vaporized to produce a diagnostic color chart. Each species of pine has a distinct resin color and the chart will disclose variations in species from the true Monterey pine.

Mrs. Forde is using this process to find out whether Monterey and knob cone pines, introduced to New Zealand by farmers who obtained seeds from California, have interbred in New Zealand.

In California the two pines bloom at different times. The surprise is that reversed seasons in New Zealand may have caused the species to bloom simultaneously, allowing cross breeding, to produce a new species of pine indigenous to New Zealand.

Rabbi Joseph Glaser To Conduct High Holy Day Services

The Monterey Peninsula Jewish Community will hold High Holy Day Services, presided over by Rabbi Joseph B. Glaser. Rabbi Glaser is Regional Director for northern California for the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. Previously he had been spiritual leader of the congregation at Ventura, California.

The Services will be held at the House of Four Winds, Monterey. Jewish New Year will be on September 21, 22 and 23, and the Day of Atonement on September 30 and October 1. Reservations for the Services may be made by telephoning FR 5-3848 or FR 2-7680.

The Jewish Community will meet in a few weeks to decide on establishment of a complete synagogue program along liberal lines, and on affiliation with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

volume considerably during past months and her voice filled the hall on this occasion. Her renderings were charming and interesting.

Miss Fallis' singing of Robin Adair, Annie Laurie, Kathleen Mavourneen, Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair and Will ye no' come back again received enthusiastic applause.

She was accompanied by her voice teacher, Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver, who discussed briefly the musical value of natural folk expression, also the background of folk music which has been drawn upon by some of the foremost composers.

(Continued from Page Four) don't need any — all work is by volunteers." "Yeah? No matter. Three men — that's what you'll have to have." I continued a few weeks longer. Then the blow fell.

We were doing Winterset, Maxwell Anderson's lovely play, and were going great guns. The A. F. of L. wrote me asking me to appear before their something or other committee. I went up and stated my case, without success. My memory is that all the committee members seemed very big men; they had their coats off and were smoking big cigars. It was a regular B movie scene. One man said, "Look, mister, I drive a milk truck. Do I do it as a volunteer? Do I do it for fun? I do not. I get paid the union scale." I said, "Don't you see any difference between driving a milk truck all day and spending your spare hours at night acting in plays for fun?" "No, sir, I do not."

Well, it was no use. They gave me the usual ultimatum, comply or be picketed. And picket my little house they did, seven or eight silly-looking people marching up and down with placards, "unfair to organized labor". It didn't seem to hurt our attendance, but after a few days three of the cast came and said, "Look, Ted, we're sorry, but two of us are Radio Guild people and one is an Equity member. If we keep crossing that picket line we'll be spotted and blacklisted and won't be able to get jobs. We just can't go on with the play." Well, there it was, freedom of enterprise!

A couple of days passed, and I was sitting with my head in my hands, so to speak, when another B movie scene came off. I received a wire from Hollywood asking whether I would consider joining the faculty of Max Reinhardt's Workshop of the Theatre, and to be the director for Dr. Reinhardt of the American and British plays to be produced at the Workshop. I wired back, "How soon needed?" Answer, "Immediately." My reply, "Coming." In 24 hours I was on my way, without even a stopover in Carmel.

I need hardly add that this was an exceptional honor, to be chosen as right hand man to the famous Reinhardt. I don't know to this day how it was that out of the hundreds of directors who would have jumped at the opportunity, they happened to light on me. I think my ability to speak German had a lot to do with it. Dr. Reinhardt's English just wasn't.

RUMMAGE SALE RAISED $600 FOR KIWANIS HALLOWEEN

Carmel Kiwanis Club raised $600 for this year's Community Hallowe'en party at a rummage sale on September 1, according to Kiwanis president John Chitwood. Mr. Chitwood says the generous cooperation of Carmel merchants made this possible, and expresses gratitude for their interest in the annual Kiwanis Hallowe'en project.

Each year members of the Kiwanis Club hold a Hallowe'en party for Carmel children on the boy's playfield at Sunset School. Each child in costume receives a present and prizes are given for costumes judged best in various age classes, also a grand prize. Refreshments are also provided for the young partygoers.

FIRE DEPT. RESPONDS TO FIRE, AMBULANCE CALLS

Members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered one fire and two ambulance calls this week.

Tuesday morning at 5:30 o'clock 13 men responded to a still alarm and extinguished a small brush fire at Carpenter and Second. There was no damage.

Tuesday morning at 11:07 o'clock fire department members took the Red Cross ambulance to the scene of a car accident at Valley View and Carpenter and transported three injured persons to the Peninsula Community Hospital. They were Mary O'Malley, Maxine Berlach and Peter Hanson.

Monday evening Dr. Fred B. Clarke of Long Beach was taken to the hospital in the Red Cross ambulance manned by fire department members who answered the medical emergency call to Monte Verde and Ocean Avenue at 8:23 o'clock.

CHURCHES*CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How freedom from the bondage of sickness and sin can be gained through wholly spiritual means will be emphasized at Christian Science churches Sunday.

Readings from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" will include Luke's account of the healing by Christ Jesus of the woman "which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years" (Ch. 13).

One of the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is the following (228:20): "If we follow the command of our Master, 'Take no thought for your life,' we shall never depend on bodily conditions, structure, or economy, but we shall be masters of the body, dictate its terms, and form and control it with Truth."

The Golden Text is from John (6:63): "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing."

Dr. Hart Back From Latest Expedition

(Continued from Page One) incidentals in the busy life of the famous orientalist who packs his schedule with trips to places like Pilos and Pella at an age when many of us would be doing well to walk around the block. (He was born in 1886, which is hard to believe, since he gives an impression of enormous vitality and abounding youthfulness.)

In order to share some of his adventures with his Carmel friends, he has lent a dozen or so of his expertly executed photos to be hung as salon prints in a morning room off the lobby in La Playa Hotel. Subject matter for these ranges from the Thessalian monastery to Bixby Creek, and from the bearded and inscrutable countenance of a Greek Orthodox priest to a still life taken in the photographer's hotel room.

It certainly lends credence to Dr. Hart's answer to a question about his travels. When asked, "What do you look for?" he said, "Everything I see."

Sketching for us last weekend a few of his adventures during recent months, he said:

"I'm just back three weeks from Turkey, my third visit there; I went into Asia Minor to see the ancient nation of the Turks and visit Turkish friends.

"I managed to get out of the Middle East on the last plane the day before one of the revolts, but I should be used to that sort of thing. I got the last plane in 1937 during the Japanese-Chinese War and in 1927 I was on the last plane out of Peking before the fighting began.

"In Greece on what was my fourth visit there I went into the Mountains of Epirus where much of the Communist guerilla fighting has been going on, and into southern Greece to visit Pilos where the palace of Nestor is being excavated. That's the same Nestor Homer wrote of.

"Then in Pella I saw the recent excavations of the palace of Alexander the Great and visited Metamora. The reason you have to be hauled up and down in a basket there is that there is no other entrance or egress. It's built on top of a perpendicular rock on the plain. Shows what can be done if you like privacy.

"This year's trip also included a visit to Italy to see the underground Etruscan catacombs and make flash pictures there, and a stop in Malta to visit the prehistoric subterranean temples and an extensive visit to Tunisia to see the ancient Roman city of Thugga.

"I visited the holy city of Kairouan, which for Islam is most sacred next to Mecca. A famous Moslem who possessed a hair of the beard of Mohammed is buried there."

"Then to the ruins of Carthage, and to France and England and the cathedral towns there and to Stonehenge again. But that can't be considered extraordinary. Many people do that."

Dr. Hart's numerous voyages into the past and the far corners of the world began when the bilingual San Franciscan forsook the practice of law which had occupied him from the time he took his doctorate in jurisprudence at the University of California in 1909 till 1919. He had studied oriental languages with native teachers and from 1922 to 1937 was engaged in searching out rare oriental art work for collectors.

He has been a lecturer on Chinese art and culture and on comparative literature and religion for universities, clubs, radio and television for many years, and during World War II served as an Army officer in this country, Africa and India, and as a special advisor to the Office of War Information.

Among his many professional honors are those of chevalier of the Order of the White Elephant of Cambodia (from France), and the collar and gold medal of the Institute de Coimbra (from Portugal), as well as fellowship in London's Royal Geographical Society and membership in Linschoten Vereeniging (Amsterdam).

Dr. Hart's own collection of Etruscan, Roman and Greek bronzes, added to on this recent trip and for that matter on practically all of his many prior trips to all the countries of Europe and the Near and Far East, will be on exhibit this month at the De Young Museum in San Francisco.

Dr. Hart, a friend of Eben Whittlesey, gave his tenth annual talk before the Carmel Lions Club last week.

Owings Proposes Swap Plan To Keep Scenic Coast

Nathaniel Owings informally presented to the county planning commission Tuesday the main concepts of the master plan which his firm has prepared for the down-coast area.

As a means of preserving the shoreline scenery, the Skidmore, Owings and Merrill plan proposes a swap arrangement. Property owners would be granted privilege of concentrated building granting scenic easements on the west side. Ocean side building sites would be 10 acre minimum. If the owner agreed not to build on the west side, he would be permitted to build in clusters of five houses on the east side of the highway.

For the Sawyer development south of the Highlands, the plan proposes cluster building with green belt strips between rather than the acre minimum site which has created the checkerboard in Carmel Valley. About 239 homes and a three story apartment are allowed for in the plan.

At Soberanes Point, approval of a 120 unit resort hotel, with 10 acres of greenbelt for each unit, is recommended.

Owings said that no further commercial development should be permitted down coast and recreational development should be limited to acquisition of more land for Big Sur park.

Highway One should be kept a two lane scenic road.

The plan will be given to County Counsel William Stoffers for study and may be ready for formal presentation to the county planning commission next month.

Owings says most of the coast property owners have tentatively agreed to the provisions of the plan which is financed jointly by property owners ($9,000) and county ($6,000). It comprises the land bordering Highway One from Malpaso Creek to the south county line.

Pt. Lobos Distributes Laidlaw William's List Of River Mouth Birds

(Continued from Page One) and phalarope families, confining itself to species regularly found on the lagoon, marshes, mudflats and sand bars. Those which occur on the rock shores and in the ocean at Point Lobos are excluded but are to be found in the Audubon Bird List for the Monterey Peninsula which was also compiled by Laidlaw Williams, is distributed by the Audubon Society and has been a best seller of its kind, with the second printing almost exhausted. It is also obtainable at Point Lobos.

The Carmel River Beach List includes information as to the time of year the various birds are to be found. For instance: "Ducks are most abundant from October through December, but can also be seen until early spring. In the Spring of 1959 a duck which is quite rare in California, the blue-winged teal, was recorded at the River-mouth, making a first record for the Monterey Peninsula Region. A few Geese appear in mid-winter. The extremely rare Emperor Goose was seen on the lagoon in the winter of 1948-49."

Eighteen kinds of ducks are listed.

The list includes five herons: egret blue, common egret, snowy egret, green heron, black-crowned night heron; four geese; four rails; five plovers; 15 snipe and sandpipers. An avocet and three phalaropes are listed.

The list, very popular with tourists visiting Point Lobos, should enrich the evening walks at the river mouth for the local residents throughout the year.

Mark Raggett Carmel's Man On MPC Board

He has lived in Carmel for the past 15 years and is a partner in Putnam and Raggett drygoods firm, opened in January 1946. His wife, Hope, was a kindergarten teacher at Sunset School prior to her marriage. They have two sons, Michael, a midshipman at the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, who was salutatorian at Carmel High School in 1958; and Jon, a junior at Carmel High School.

Mr. Raggett served on the county grand jury in 1956. He has also been president of the Carmel Business Association and on the board of directors of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce and the Community Chest. He was a member of the committee which, during the first year of Monterey Peninsula College's existence, worked to provide curriculum embodying particular community needs. At present Mr. Raggett is on the Carmel school district October 4 bond election committee.

A Little Pine Joins A Distinguished Triad On Dolores Street

(Continued from Page One) editor Wilma, asked the city council for two pines in front of the former Red Cross Building when he bought it to house the Pine Cone several years ago, and got them. One is the Peter Mawdsley Pine, a tribute in gratitude to the former city clerk who is living quietly and happily in Carmel in retirement; the other is a memorial, the Fred Bechdolt Pine.

These three "broke in" the new editor to the ways and values of Carmel.

Fred Bechdolt used the phrase, "the old simplicities" as one would wave a banner. Peter Mawdsley predicted what was to come.

HEARTHSTONE EMPLOYEE TO BE TRIED IN SUPERIOR COURT

At a preliminary hearing this morning in Monterey Municipal Court, Henry O. Fortune, former porter at the Hearthstone Restaurant, was bound over for trial in Superior Court in Salinas on a burglary charge.

On September 6 he was arrested by Carmel Police on suspicion of taking $600 from the Hearthstone premises.

Free Eye Tests For Pre-Schoolers

Free eye examinations will be given pre-school children in the Community Room of the Monterey Public Library from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock in the morning on September 28, 29; October 26, 27; November 30 and December 1, and 2.

The Monterey County Branch of the California Society for the Prevention of Blindness again offers this service to children 3, 4, and 5 years of age. The examination which is given by trained volunteers is to determine gross eye defects. Parents of children who do not pass the test will be urged to take the child for a professional eye examination.

This service is endorsed by the Monterey County Ophthalmological Society and the operational costs are met by the Monterey Peninsula Lions Clubs.
